NOVEMBER
SOCIAL MEDIA PACK

For Hair Extensionists

Welcome

November is the month clients start thinking seriously about Christmas parties, festive events, gift ideas and how they want to look throughout December.

This month's content focuses on helping clients get party-ready through clip-ins, ponytails, styling appointments, blow-dry lessons and thoughtful festive services.

It should feel aspirational, useful and easy to act on.

Use these ideas to show clients how they can enjoy beautiful festive hair without always committing to a full set of extensions, while also highlighting the extra care, education and experience you offer throughout party season.

As always, make the content your own. Use your own clients, your own salon and your own personality to create posts that feel natural, relevant and trustworthy.

As November comes to an end, take a moment to look beyond your appointment book.

Think about the services clients loved most, the conversations that led to extra bookings and the small touches that made the biggest impression.

Ask yourself:

- Which festive services generated the most enquiries?
- Which Reels were shared the most?
- Which styling tips did clients mention during appointments?
- Which products or accessories sold most naturally?
- Which festive extras created the biggest client reactions?

Save your favourite transformations, videos, testimonials and behind-the-scenes content now.

They'll become valuable marketing assets for next Christmas, helping you spend less time creating content and more time looking after clients.

Remember, the most successful festive season isn't always the busiest one.

It's the one where every appointment delivers an exceptional experience.

Choose the ideas that suit your salon, your clients and the way you love to work, then build on them year after year.
